

Amanda O'Brien to be Honored at MaineToday Media's Forty under 40 Event

July 12, 2011

Portland, Maine – Hall Internet Marketing– a Maine technology enabled internet marketing firm, is pleased to announce Amanda O'Brien as a Forty under 40 honoree.

Forty of Maine's emerging leaders will be honored in MaineToday Media's first annual Forty under 40 event. This event will celebrate Maine's emerging generation of leaders. Talented individuals under the age of forty, who are making significant contributions to their career field and to the community at large, will be honored on Thursday, July 14th, 2011.

"Amanda is certainly deserving of this recognition," says Tom Hall, President of Hall Internet Marketing. "She is a strong leader in our organization and in the community. She works incredibly hard enthusiastically guiding our company and contributing to our local business and nonprofit community."

Amanda provides corporate leadership and vision while running Hall's marketing department and is responsible marketing strategy and marketing service fulfillment for our corporate clients. When she is not speaking at conferences or to business groups about social networking and conversation marketing, she contributes to the company blog, SEO Vision and frequently presents in our weekly webinar series. She is also the organizer of Social Media Breakfast Maine.

If you would like to attend Forty under 40 event, tickets are available for $55 for the harbor cruise and can be purchased at www.portix.com.
